EARTH, WIND and FIBER - *entry deadline**

Enter your textile works for the April 7-8, 2018, show at the Albuquerque Garden Center. Call-for-Entry (mid-page) is due by February 25th.

Exhibit entries will be juried due to available space. The 2016 Colors of the Southwest show was widely acclaimed. Accepted items of all fiber media will be on exhibit.

We would love to see your work! Follow the link above for both participating-guild and individual-artist entries.

EVFAC Call for Artists ' deadline is March 15, 2018: Recall, ReCapture, Remember 2018 Fiber Crawl and the City of ABQ Open Space call: Exhibit will be Friday, May 18 through Sunday, May 20th. Enter the WATER themed exhibit at the ABQ Open Space Visitor Center. You might think that the above and some of the following are much like last month. They are! I know that I often need a reminder or a kick in the [responsibility] pants.

(Don't mind me...)

February 25 (Sunday, 4 - 5:30 pm) - Get the Most out of Ravelry - Ann Mueller from the Dropped Stitch Knitters Guild will show us how to use Ravelry to look for patterns, organize your stash, find errata or just drool over what knitters and crocheters worldwide are making. Whether you're experienced or new to it, Ann will teach you new tricks at The YARN Store (505)717-1535

Helen Baribeau loves the magic that occurs when pails of messy pulp are transformed into paper--testing the limits of what can be done with it. She became obsessed with monumentally sized gloves and built huge molds and developed special methods for working with the wet pulp in order to create the Giant Garden Glove series. Baribeau also believes in papermaking as a way of creating and preserving memories. Inclusions with special meaning such as bits of thread, scraps of cloth, old letters, or items from nature are embedded in many of her papers.
